Join the conversation to combat racism and earn DEIB professional development credits at the 2024 Richard B. Lippin Lecture in Ethics

FEATURING

Heather McGhee, policy advocate and bestselling author of The Sum of Us

Thursday, March 28, at 6:00 p.m.

HUB-Robeson Center Freeman Auditorium

Live stream by WPSU

From the surge in student debt to the crumbling state of public infrastructure, one common thread exists — embedded racism in our politics and policymaking affects everyone.

Policy advocate and New York Times bestselling author Heather McGhee will explore the detrimental impact of the zero-sum paradigm — the notion that progress for some must come at the expense of others. She’ll then lead us through the concept of the “Solidarity Dividend” — the benefits we all reap when diverse communities come together to achieve what is impossible alone.

Penn State faculty and staff are invited and encouraged to join this important conversation. Please register through the Learning Resource Network (LRN) to either attend in person or view the livestream. You will receive DEI professional development credit on your LRN transcript once your attendance has been confirmed.

SPONSORED BY:

- The Humanities Institute at Penn State
- Paterno Fellows Program
- Paul Robeson Cultural Center
- Penn State:
  - College of Earth and Mineral Sciences
  - College of Education
  - Department of African American Studies
- Department of Philosophy
- Department of Sociology and Criminology
- Department of Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies
- Outreach
- Public Policy Association
- Smeal College of Business

Funded by the Student Initiated Fee

---

PennState Educational Equity
rockethics institute
THE MCCOURTNEY INSTITUTE FOR DEMOCRACY